

George Rice, Ashton-under-Lyne, LibDem

Commit to a review of the 2006 Racial and Religious Hatred Act with a view to strengthening legal protections afforded to religious communities.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Implement primary legislation to deal with social media offences and hate speech online and commit to working with social media companies to protect free speech while developing an efficient strategy to tackle hate speech online in consultation with Muslim grassroots organisations.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to financing mosque security in a manner that is proportional to risk, in line with what is already correctly provided to Jewish religious institutions.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to prioritising PSRE and PSHE within the national curriculum and ensure grassroots Muslim organisations are enlisted to assist in developing teaching materials to educate young people on the dangers of Islamophobia.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to supporting academic freedoms and initiatives to decolonise education, whilst giving greater emphasis within the national curriculum to shared histories and the contributions of minority communities in building our society.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to developing training programmes for teachers focussed on tackling and addressing bullying based on race, religion, disability, or sexuality.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to supporting faith school provisions in the state sector for Muslim pupils and parents.	I am undecided on this pledge
Commit to implementing Shariah-compliant student loans to encourage more British Muslim students to attend university.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to tackling religious, racial and gendered discrimination in the workplace through targeted interventions at all stages of recruitment, retention and promotion.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to the use of name-blind applications and targeted interventions within employment aimed at tackling the triple penalty and improving access to employment for British Muslim women specifically.	Yes, I commit to this pledge

Commit to supporting employers to recognise and accommodate religious festivals and religious observance within the workplace, including the provision of halal meat, prayer rooms, and flexible work hours during Ramadan.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to the full implementation of the Royal Charter on press regulation.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to the commencement of the second part of the Leveson Inquiry, including an investigation into the prevalence of Islamophobia within the media.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Support initiatives by the broadcasting industry to promote positive portrayals of Muslims in the media.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to investigating structural Islamophobia within the Criminal Justice System.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to independently reviewing all counter-terrorism legislation enacted since 2000 with a view to curbing the encroachment of counter-terrorism policies on civil liberties.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to recognising the role of UK foreign policy in individuals being drawn to political violence.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to proactively engaging and consulting with representative and grassroots organisations within British Muslim communities, including but not limited to Muslim Engagement and Development.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to recognising that Palestinian activism is a legitimate form of political dialogue and commit to protecting the rights of British Muslims to advocate and support Palestinians' right to self-determination.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to preserving human rights and the protection of minority rights, including, but not limited to, the rights to religious slaughter, male circumcision and the wearing of religious dress or symbols as currently enshrined within UK legislation.	Yes, I commit to this pledge
Commit to supporting the protections afforded by the EU Equal Treatment Directive to advance protection against discrimination on the grounds of religion to education, healthcare, housing, access to goods and services and social protection, within UK law post-Brexit.	Yes, I commit to this pledge

REMANE NOSTRE

AM: QVIVAN

SEGRUO OAD